AN EVEREST EFFORT

At 4am on Saturday 24th June, Luke Moscrop, VP Commercial Finance, is setting out to 'Everest' Ditchling Beacon.

Ditchling Beacon is the 'tough' cycle climb for most people found at the end of the London to Brighton bike ride. 'Everesting' is picking one hill, and cycling up it as many times as necessary until you have gained 8,848 meters of vertical elevation (the height of Mt Everest).

One climb of the Beacon is 140m, meaning Luke will be climbing it 65 times in a single ride! It's going to take approx. 17hrs (about 12-13hrs riding + breaks)!

We are in awe of this challenge, and unbelievably grateful that Luke has decided to do this to raise funds for INTO Giving, helping to give kids and young people the opportunities they deserve, worldwide.

If you'd like to sponsor Luke, for his heroic efforts, do it here:

THANK YOU!

Ticket sales close on Thursday 27th April, and the draw happens on 2nd May 2023! Every penny we raise goes directly to our education projects across the globe and changes a child's life.

➔ Internship success!

INTO Giving is running its third year of Student Internships, in Summer 2023! With twice the amount of applications to last year, selection was tough, but three INTO students have now been selected for the roles.

The successful students are currently learning at INTO OSU, INTO Manchester, and INTO UEA. Two INTO student internships will be hosted by INTO Giving's partner Room to Read in San Francisco and London, with a third hosted by INTO Giving itself in Brighton UK - Follow @intogiving on our socials for their introduction profiles!

➔ International Women's Day

To round off the wonderful International Women's Day celebrations at INTO, we would like to thank everyone for their support of girls in education through INTO Giving!

Thanks to INTO employees, students and faculty, INTO Giving supports women and girls all year round to fight for equity in the classroom. Continue this fight and use your PAID staff volunteering days to support a women's cause of your choice!

Don't forget you can also use our iGive top up scheme, to raise an extra 20% on your fundraising for a cause of your choice
